"A liberal education is the education which gives people a clear, conscious view of their own opinions and judgments, a truth in developing them, an eloquence in expressing them, and a force in urging them. It teaches them to see things as they are, to go right to the point, to disentangle a skein of thought, to detect what is sophistical and to discard what is irrelevant."

WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, MORRIS

On behalf of faculty, students, and staff at the University of Minnesota, Morris, I am pleased to extend a warm and genuine welcome to each of you who are joining us this evening for our fifteenth graduation ceremony. I know that you are experiencing a strong feeling of pride in the accomplishments of our 1978 graduates.

Our pride is perhaps best expressed in direct proportion to the degree of intellectual fulfillment we believe has been achieved by the graduating seniors both singly and collectively. Our business is of the mind and its development for abstract reasoning and practical application. Although there certainly is need for improvement, we do feel that we do well at this effort, and that the proof for this boast rests in our graduates.

Intellectual fulfillment is necessary for a healthy and productive society. I believe that a primary reason for many of the depressive and bland attitudes that we sometimes possess and express can be explained by the lack of development and refinement of our higher sensibilities. Our basic problem may be that we have not reached a level of intellectual maturity of sufficient quality and quantity. I hope that the academic and related experiences of our 1978 graduates will enable them to realize in large part their potential as complete human beings.

Finally, I want to recognize officially for the last time two faculty members who are retiring from our staff this year. They are Bernice Lund, Associate Professor in mathematics, and Ralph Williams, Associate Professor in music. Together they have served a total of 34 years at UMM. In addition, Professor Williams was with the University for 13 years on the Twin Cities Campus. We are saddened by their departure, but at the same time, we are pleased that they will now have the opportunity to continue pursuing interests that they have developed earlier, and hopefully, to initiate some new interests as well.

Congratulations to the 1978 UMM graduates. Come back soon and often.

John Q. Imholte, Provost

Order of Events

PRESENTATION OF COLORS: Following the procession, the Color Guard will enter the Mall and proceed to the front of the stage.

NATIONAL ANTHEM: The audience will be led by Ralph E. Williams, Associate Professor of Music, Division of Humanities.

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

A MOMENT OF SILENCE WILL BE OBSERVED.

SPECIAL MUSIC: Soprano Solo by Mary Esbjornson of Willmar, "AS IT FELL UPON A DAY" by Aaron Copland. Accompanists Jill Schnirring of Waltham on clarinet and Susan Bosl of Sauk Centre on flute.

SPEAKING FOR THE UNIVERSITY AND INTRODUCING GUESTS: John Q. Imholte, Provost

Addresses: Mark Williamson, Graduating Senior—"Our years at UMM have been a part of the evolution of our individual lives."

Mariam Frenier, Instructor, Division of Social Sciences—"In this new country—America—there sprang a new spirit, a belief that everyone should be educated. It began with the belief that the poor should be educated as well as the rich. It is a belief that is a necessary forerunner to our basic American concepts of freedom and democracy—democracy being equality of opportunity. Midst this budding belief in education for all, on the eve of the American Revolution—1769 to be exact—girls were finally admitted to public girls' schools in the city of Boston."

Academic Regalia

The pageantry and dress of American colleges and universities has been inherited from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries. Academic life as we know it today began in the Middle Ages, first in the Church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the Guild of the Master of Arts, where the Bachelor was the apprentice of the Master and the dress was the outward sign of privilege and responsibility.

Principal features of academic dress are the gown, the cap and the hood. Early it became necessary for universities to set rules to preserve the dignity and meaning of the academic dress. Both Cambridge and Oxford since the fifteenth century have made academic dress a matter of university control even to its minor details, and have repeatedly published revised regulations. American universities agreed on a definite system in 1895. In 1932 the American Council of Education presented a revised code which for the most part governs the style of academic dress today.

THE GOWN: The flowing gown comes from the twelfth century. While it originally may have been worn as protection against the cold of unheated buildings, today it has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship for it covers any dress of rank or social standing underneath. It is black for all degrees with pointed sleeves for the Bachelors degree; long closed sleeves with a slit at the arm or wrist for the Masters degree; and full bell double sleeves for the Doctors degree. Bachelors and Masters degree gowns have no trimming. For the Doctors degree the gown is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains.

THE CAP: When Roman law freed the slave he won the privilege of wearing a cap. The academic cap is a sign of freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square to symbolize the book. The color of the tassel denotes the disciplines.

THE HOOD: The hood is trimmed with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the college. The color of the facing of the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree, the color of the lining designates the university or college from which the degree was granted.

SHOULDER CORDS on the gowns of candidates for degrees indicate that the candidates are honor students.

Academic Magazine

The first of these is the fact that the magazine is published by a group of students and faculty members of the University of California, Berkeley. This is a significant point, as it indicates that the magazine is a student-run publication, which is a common feature of many academic journals. The second point is that the magazine is published quarterly, which is a relatively short interval for an academic journal. This suggests that the magazine is intended to provide a timely and up-to-date account of current events in the field of academic research. The third point is that the magazine is published in a format that is accessible to a wide range of readers, including students, faculty, and the general public. This is a key feature of many academic journals, as it allows them to reach a broad audience and to have a greater impact on the field of research.
